ABOUT ME

Hi. I'm Dor Shemesh. My specializations include branding and advertising, design strategies, and user experience. I bring thought, relevance, and style to the brands. My goal is to define the most important, genuine quality with which to tell a brand's story intuitively.

Branding is not just a profession for me; it's a passion. I firmly believe that a well-crafted brand has the power to shape perceptions, evoke emotions, and establish strong connections with its target audience. By carefully analyzing the essence of each brand I work with, I strive to define its most important and genuine qualities. This allows me to develop a brand narrative that resonates with customers on a deep and meaningful level, forging lasting connections and loyalty.
